

URBAN DESIGN FRAMEWORK
for the
UNIVERSITY DISTRICT

Today, cities and, perhaps more precisely, cities and their specific regions are being rediscovered as magnets of creative energy and innovation. These city-regions have been able to create new and distinctive growth economies and lifestyles based on the ability to weave their reconstruction efforts, mixing together the physical with the cultural — an essential integration, shaped by the physiographic characteristics of each specific region.

PHASE 1 REPORT NOVEMBER 2010